By SENE LAQUER

THE news about the suppression of the democratic revolution in Hungary by the Soviet army has just come through. As these lines are written, there is no room for short term political or military predictions, for the immediate issue at stake will probably be decided within a matter of hours. But some obvious conclusions as to the far-reaching repercussions of this action are already emerging. Those who mistakenly believed that the present Soviet regime was basically socialist, democratic and internationalist, or in any case worked towards these ends, are, of course, by now very indignant. Those who did not think the Soviet leadership socialist and democratic in inspiration will be less shocked because they never assumed that the Kremlin would act differently.

THE Soviet leaders thought it necessary to take this action for they assumed, quite correctly, that resolutions are infectious and that the Hungarian uprising, if unchecked, would not only produce an "Away from Moscow" movement in the "Popular Democracies" (what a funny name, come to think of it) but eventually have serious results in the Soviet Union too. They anticipated moreover that the West would not be able to react firmly to Russian military intervention in Hungary in view of its present split on Egypt. They thought the Asian and African countries were too steamed up about Anglo-French intervention in the Middle East to care greatly about events in Eastern Europe. Again, these assumptions, especially the last one, were at least partially true. In a London weekly's latest issue a cartoon appears showing Mr. Nehru studying reports from Hungary and turning to him Krishna Menon talking into a phone: "No, he has nothing to say about Imperialism. No, nothing about Communism. No, nothing about Oppression. He does not want to interfere, even by commenting on it, in the internal affairs of other countries..."

IT is no good describing the attitude displayed by Mr. Nehru and other Asian leaders who have been quick to denounce "Israel aggression" as hypocritical. They simply do not care greatly about events in Europe, people killing each other does not greatly disturb them — just as Hitler was no particular cause of concern to most of them — it was an internal quibble of the white nations. But Mr. Khrushchev and his colleagues are surely mistaken in assuming that the consequences of their action in both the West and Eastern Europe. They have precipitated a return to the Cold War, for Western statesmen and military leaders will undoubtedly argue that if the Russians are ready to risk a third world war by armed intervention in one country, they may risk it tomorrow in another. Worse yet, the ideological and moral position of Soviet Communism has been completely undermined, and this may well prove fatal for Communism, in contrast to Fascism, builds not only on military strength. True enough, under Stalin, especially during his last years, there was a complete retreat from these positions, but the dividing line between Stalinism and Fascism frequently became invisible to the naked eye. But the present Soviet action, however opposed to socialism and democracy, does not want to return to full-fledged Stalinism, and even if they did want to, they probably would not be able to do much about it. For this reason, their present policy in Eastern Europe is bound to fail. It will sharpen the crisis within the Communist parties in the Western world, some of which are by now in a state of disintegration, and even split. In the "Popular Democracies" they cannot hope to regain full mastery unless they liquidate large sections of the intelligentsia and the working class. This is a possibility which cannot be altogether excluded — after all, Stalin did it once before. But there is no Stalin now, and a more moderate method is likely to be tried first. In the meantime, the Soviet leadership will not be able to prevent the spread of the revolutionary ferment to the Soviet Union itself. It is even doubtful whether the Soviet army will for ever be ready to play the role of the "gendarme of Europe." And the Soviet leadership, especially the youth, will not be for ever terrorized when others have won a measure of freedom. It may take five, eight or ten years, but there can be no doubt about the final outcome. In broader perspective the Soviet attack against Hungary will probably enter history as one of the main rearguard actions of Stalinism on the road to defeat.

Eisenhower Wins 41 States, But Democrats Control Congress

Several Upsets In Senate Races

NEW YORK, Wednesday (Reuters). — President Eisenhower today swept to a more massive Presidential victory against Mr. Adlai Stevenson than the landslide win he had against the same Democratic Party opponent in 1952, but the Democrats retained control of both Houses of Congress.

Compared with the 442 to 59 margin of Electoral College votes he had four years ago, latest returns showed Mr. Eisenhower had either won or was assured of winning 457 such votes to Mr. Stevenson's 74.

Only once before in history — in 1948 — has a President won election and then lost both Houses of Congress.

In 1952 Mr. Eisenhower had a popular vote of 33,956,243 to Mr. Stevenson's 27,214,922. The popular vote at 3.50 p.m. (GMT) was 33,455,622 to 22,555,780.

Proof that the President's great prestige and personal popularity, rather than his administration's record and his party's policy, were the reason for his triumph was the fact that he failed to carry the Republicans to victory in either the Senate or the House.

The state of parties in the Congressional election at 3.50 p.m. (GMT) was not contested was: Democrats — House 223, Senate 45; Republicans — House 197, Senate 45.

Mr. Stevenson won these seven states (electoral college votes in brackets): Alabama (11), Arkansas (6), Georgia (12), Mississippi (8), Missouri (12), North Carolina (14), South Carolina (8).

Several upsets marked the Senate contests. In Pennsylvania, a Republican, Senator James Duff went down to defeat at the hands of the former Mayor of Philadelphia, Mr. Joseph Clark.

In Idaho, Mr. Eisenhower failed to pull to victory isolationist Herman Walker.

But in New York State, Mr. Jacob Javits, who endorsed the administration's stand in the Middle East crisis, swept to victory over the Democratic Mayor of New York City, Mr. Robert Wagner.

All night and through the morning the Senate races remained in doubt. Then Sen. Wayne Morse clinched his lead over Mr. Eisenhower's handpicked candidate in Oregon, the former Interior Secretary, Mr. Douglas McKay, and Mr. Alan Bible won out as Republican Rep. Clifton Young.

Eisenhower Calls Bi-Partisan Talks

WASHINGTON, Wednesday (UP). — President Eisenhower today summoned Republican and Democratic congressional leaders to a conference on Friday on the crises in the Middle East and Eastern Europe.

He issued the summons for bi-partisan co-operation within hours of his landslide election victory. His unsuccessful Democratic opponent, Mr. Adlai Stevenson, had pledged his full co-operation in meeting the President's weighty problems on the international front.

The White House Press Secretary, Mr. James Hagerly, said the meeting will include a "review" of the Middle East and European situations and a "serious discussion" of what actions we can take and what decisions we have to make in the future "to contribute to peace in those areas."

USSR Seeks Troop Passage

LONDON, Wednesday. — Soviet troop movements along the Turkish and Persian borders and Soviet requests to these countries to allow Russian troops to pass are mentioned in reports from Baghdad, causing official circles here to warn today against believing that the crisis is over.

While Turkey is unofficially understood to have refused the Soviet request, there are persistent rumours that an official arrangement between Russia and Syria will enable the Russians to assert their physical presence in the Middle East. Such an arrangement, while ostensibly aiding Syrian defence and convenience, would seriously embarrass Turkey and other Baghdad pact members.

(Reuters later quoted a Foreign Office spokesman as saying that the British Government has no reports either of a Soviet request or a Turkish refusal.)

There is also a feeling here that the current Tehran talks between Turkey, Iraq, Persia and Pakistan will leave the Baghdad Pact seriously weakened.

Contributors to Caution
These somewhat cautious developments contribute to the caution engendered by yesterday's cease-fire, which was received with mixed feelings in Parliamentary circles supporting the Government. Some Tories were plainly shocked, though others felt that intervention had attained its main objective.

Official opinion may be summarized today by saying that Britain and France have established themselves in sufficient strength in the bay area and will be able to take further action should a U.N. police force fail to materialize or Egyptian resistance continue with or without Soviet aid, the possibility of which is not discounted here.

The part played in the British decision by Soviet threats is variously interpreted here and in Paris, where it is being openly said that the Western powers have yielded to Soviet pressure. This is con-

EDEN MAY HAVE TO GO

LONDON, Wednesday (GNA). — It seemed possible last night that Prime Minister Anthony Eden may have to resign. There are reliable stories of violent discussion within the Cabinet over the Middle East action taken by Britain. Sir Anthony, it is reported, only escaped the scene after a stormy session in which he received an ultimatum from his colleagues, headed by the Conservative leader in the Commons, Mr. R. A. Butler, who is the most likely to be successor if Sir Anthony goes.

U.K. Not Giving Pledge in Advance

LONDON, Wednesday (UP). — Prime Minister Anthony Eden today refused to give an advance guarantee that British and French troops would leave the Canal Zone if asked to by the United Nations.

"I do not think I could possibly give an assurance like that," he told Parliament amidst Conservative cheers.

Socialist Arthur Henderson had asked him for an assurance "that in the event of the General Assembly deciding that neither France nor Britain shall participate in the international police force, the Government will not insist on retaining their forces in Egypt."

Sir Anthony told the Commons he had received reports that Port Said is "under control" and Anglo-French troops "have taken up defensive positions."

"The greatest efforts are being made to clear the obstructions to the harbour as quickly as possible," he added.

Egypt's Reply Unknown
The Premier said the Government had no official information about an acceptance of the cease-fire by the Egyptian Government. There have been reports of a ceasefire, but it has not been confirmed to us yet," he said.

In Nicola, the C.-in-C. of the Allied forces, Sir Charles Keightley, announced that allied casualties in the occupation of Port Said were just over 100 killed and wounded.

In a written press statement, Keightley added, "there has been no fighting since the cease-fire became operative in the Canal Zone."

Allied forces headquarters said allied troops now control the quarter of the Suez Canal (about 40 kms.) of the 160-km. stretch. He said it was understood that both British and French troops stopped at this point.

Gen. Keightley's statement said, "before the cease-fire became effective British paratroops had reached a point on the causeway about 10 miles north of El Kantara."

Fresh Legion Claim

An Arab Legion communiqué in Amman last night claimed that an Israel plane was shot down yesterday in Jordan territory near Ajlun, across the border from Beit Shean, killing the pilot and a passenger, Radio Ramallah reported.

It said the plane, an Auster, was shot down at 6.30 a.m. yesterday by Arab Legion anti-aircraft fire, and the body of an Israeli Air Force major and that of a second unidentified person, as well as maps and documents, were found among the wreckage.

On Tuesday, the Arab Legion claimed that an Israel plane was shot down and fell in flames inside Israel. The story was denied by the Israel Army spokesman.

B-G Tells United Knesset No Foreign Force Wanted in Sinai

Armistice Line Not Valid Hatikva Sung for Victory

Jerusalem Post Reporter
Israel will not agree to any foreign force — "no matter what it is named" — being stationed in her territory or in any area occupied by her, Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion told the United Knesset yesterday morning told a packed Knesset. This statement was one of seven points emerging from the present situation which Israel had to make clear to the world, he said.

The other points were that the Armistice Agreement with Egypt was "dead and buried." Consequently, the armistice lines with that country were no longer valid; no dispute existed between Israel and the people of Egypt; direct peace negotiations with Egypt were desired; if any other Arab state did not yet want peace negotiations on its own behalf, Israel would continue to observe the Armistice Agreements with these states as long as they themselves did not enter the building fight any Arab country unless attacked.

The Prime Minister dwelt at length on the brilliant and lightning campaign of the Defence Forces. They had met and defeated 40,000 Egyptian soldiers who had been armed with superior weapons.

Reply to Eisenhower
Mr. Ben-Gurion also spoke of President Eisenhower's letter to him, and the reply in which he had outlined Israel's position.

The Knesset was the focal point of national applause, braving cold, wintry wind and rain gathered outside to cheer the Prime Minister as he entered the building.

When he arrived in his small car shortly before 11.15 a.m., the crowd broke into spontaneous applause and he entered the building.

Special provision had been made by police to keep the crowd from pressing forward. But the rain proved the best deterrent, turning excited onlookers into shivering bundles under dripping umbrellas. Every doorway and window had its full quota of spectators.

The Prime Minister, who had been confined to bed with a severe cold and high temperature for a week, spoke in a clear, strong voice. The entire cabinet, with the exception of Mrs. Golda Meir, the Foreign Minister, was present as he took his place on the platform. Seated with the President and Mrs. Ben-Zvi in the presidential box was Mr. Louis Lipsky, veteran American Zionist, and Mrs. Lipsky.

Among those present in the Knesset were Rav-Aluf Moshe Dayan, Chief-of-Staff, and Chief Rabbi Herzog and Nissim.

reference to clause 2 of the U.N. resolution which called for the withdrawal of both Egyptian and Israeli forces behind the 1949 armistice line. The French Premier Guy Mollet was today in some danger of being strained.

Two factors have contributed to this situation. The first is the total difference of attitude taken up by the two Governments towards Israel's refusal to withdraw behind the 1949 Armistice line.

The other is the manner in which, according to sources close to the French Government, the British Government itself contributed to forcing the Anglo-French troops in the Suez Canal area to declare a cease-fire, before the official objectives in the Suez Canal had been obtained.

An official close to the Foreign Minister said today the French Government is 100 per cent behind Mr. Ben-Gurion when he refuses to abandon Sinai, until a definite peace is agreed to by Egypt, and when he declares that the Israel-Egyptian armistice has ceased to exist.

The difference between the London and Paris Governments was clearly and officially shown in the difference between the wording of the British and French notes to the U.N. yesterday agreeing to a cease-fire.

U.K. 'Considering' Swiss Proposal
London, Wednesday. — The British Foreign Office today announced that the U.K. is "considering" the Swiss Government's proposal for a five power "summit" conference to include the Big Four and India.

Though the Foreign Office spokesman gave no indication of official reaction, it was understood that Britain is consulting with the U.S. and France on the Swiss initiative.

Meanwhile, India announced today that she had accepted the proposal to attend such a conference.

U.N. Chief Opens Talks On Int'l Police Force for Egypt

UNITED NATIONS, Wednesday (UP). — The U.N. Secretary-General, Mr. Dag Hammarskjöld, said today that the U.N. has begun negotiations with Egyptian, British and French authorities to arrange for the stationing of an international police force in the Middle East.

As the debate continued it was announced that Mr. Hammarskjöld had informed the Egyptian Government that a decision putting the U.N. force in operation could be effected without delay "by a call on a number of Governments to send contingents."

He asked for an immediate reply whether Egypt would object to participation of troops from any of the countries named so far. Hammarskjöld said that immediately the Egyptian government replied he would ask the governments of the nations already designated "for the quickest possible execution."

He said he would appreciate immediate planning with Gen. Burns "for the stationing of the projected force," and added that he awaited Gen. Burns' advice on the size and character of the force immediately necessary.

Mr. Hammarskjöld told the U.N. General Assembly that Maj.-Gen. E.L.M. Burns, Chief of Staff of the Truce Supervision Organization, now named Chief of the international force, was in contact with Cairo and Cyprus, the seats of the Anglo-French and Egyptian commands.

He said Gen. Burns had reported that Egyptian authorities "agreed in principle" that the force would be stationed in the Sinai.

Anglo-French Unity Strained

PARIS, Wednesday (Reuters). — The French Government today expressed its understanding created between the British and French Governments in the last six months under the impulse of French Premier Guy Mollet was today in some danger of being strained.

Two factors have contributed to this situation. The first is the total difference of attitude taken up by the two Governments towards Israel's refusal to withdraw behind the 1949 Armistice line.

The other is the manner in which, according to sources close to the French Government, the British Government itself contributed to forcing the Anglo-French troops in the Suez Canal area to declare a cease-fire, before the official objectives in the Suez Canal had been obtained.

By ARYEH RUBINSTEIN, Jerusalem Post Knesset Reporter
In an impressive and rare display of unity, the Knesset yesterday supported the Prime Minister's political and security statement by a vote of 68-2. The resolution was presented in the name of all the parties except the Communists, namely the Coalition parties plus Herut, the General Zionists, Agudat Yisrael-Poalei Agudat Yisrael, and the three Arab parties. A Communist motion of non-confidence failed, 3-57.

After the vote was taken, a few members began to sing "Hatikva," and the entire House, together with the gallery were soon on their feet, joining in. The last time this happened was when Mr. Itzhak Ben-Zvi was elected President.

The resolution said: The Knesset notes with appreciation the statement of the Prime Minister and the Minister of Defence on November 7, 1956, on the political and military position, the Knesset and the people, from Dan to Yotvat, send their enthusiastic greetings to the Israel Defence Forces who have won the Battle of Sinai and whose preparedness, ability and spirit of sacrifice have struck the Egyptian enemy, buried him back and destroyed him. May the Israel Defence Forces be blessed — the Rock of Israel is their fortress.

Fallen Soldiers Honoured
The Knesset bows its head before the fallen of the Israel Defence Forces who gave up their lives for the existence of the State of Israel. It expresses its condolences to the families who have lost their loved ones who are dear to the entire House of Israel. The Knesset wishes the wounded soldiers a full and speedy recovery.

The unity of the Knesset — apart from the dissenting Communists — was reflected not only in the vote, but in the points made by speakers in the three-hour debate.

There was general agreement that the war in Sinai had become unavoidable if the State was to be preserved. There was high praise for the Defence Forces and for Mr. Ben-Gurion (even from Herut leader Menahem Begin), and sympathy for families who mourn fallen soldiers.

Reject 'Police'
There was determination not to permit an international police force to set foot on Israeli soil.

Mr. Begin said that Israel would never forget the arms it had received from France, and he warned the British against any attempt to take from Israel the fruits of her victory — by force, pressure, or threats. He appealed to the British Labour Party to stop treating Israel as a political football.

He said that the work of liberating such parts of the homeland as the Old City of Jerusalem and Hebron was not completed.

France's aid was also singled out by Mr. Peretz Bernstein (General Zionist). He hoped that the U.S. would reconsider its critical attitude. It would then surely become convinced that Israel (Continued on Page 3, Col. 2)

SOVIET, CHINESE 'VOLUNTEERS'

MOSCOW, Wednesday. — The Egyptian Embassy today reported quick response to an appeal for Soviet volunteers to fight Anglo-French aggression in Egypt.

The Embassy said a "number" of Russian reserve officers were among the first to volunteer. Some of the officers called at the Embassy to offer their services following an appeal broadcast by Moscow Radio yesterday. Written applications were received from others, it said.

Radio Peking announced that more than a quarter of a million Chinese workers and students have expressed their "ardent desire" to volunteer to fight in Egypt.

Winter Term At Technion Opens

HAIFA, Wednesday. — The winter term at the Technion has already opened although numbers of students and teachers are still away on military duty. First year and evening students began their studies two weeks ago.

Both at the Hadar Campus and at Technion City crowds of students welcomed each other back this week and hurried to classes.

The only sign of the time is during breaks between lectures when the latest radio news is snatched up and discussed. Time tables have been adjusted and lectures re-distributed among the academic staff to fill the gaps left by teachers away on military duty.

A larger number of students will be seen at the new campus, as besides the aeronautical engineering building, in use for the past two years, one wing of the new faculty of electrical engineering building will now also be used. Despite the shortage of buses in town, the special service to Technion City is running as usual.

LAW REPORT

The Jerusalem Post November 8, 1956

In the Supreme Court Sitting as High Court of Justice

Before Justice Agranat, Silberg and Ben-Zion.
Gertzel v. The Minister of Health, Respondent.

Dismissal of Hospital Orderly Confirmed

The High Court discharged an order nisi granted to the petitioner on November 18, 1955, calling on the respondent to show cause why he should not retract his decision to dismiss the petitioner from the exercise of his job as a male orderly in the Government T.S. Hospital at Nazareth, and why he should not reinstate him as from the day of his dismissal, March 21, 1955.

The petitioner's dismissal arose from an incident which occurred one night in the Nazareth T.S. Hospital when the petitioner, as a male orderly, one of the patients complained of severe pain and asked the doctor on duty, Dr. Horowitz, what to give him. The latter refused to give him the pain-killers, and the petitioner, in a fit of anger, threw a bottle of medicine at the doctor's head.

The next day, Dr. Horowitz saw the petitioner, entered on the patient's medical card, "He denied that Nidaf had come to him on the night of the incident, and reported the incident to the Director of the hospital. The latter questioned Nidaf and finally referred the matter to the Ministry of Health, which then Dr. Horowitz's version of the incident and asking
